TRADE-UNIONISM AD ABSURDUM. A movement was projected on the Great Lakes of America toward the under Jandary which must be viewed in retrospect to appreciate its full significance. It means that owners of vessels have g own fired of having their property managed by unions, and are resolved upon a change. For the past three or four years, says Engineering, there has been a gradual encroachment of union power until, a year ago, the owner was practically left without a personal representative aboardship. His property was absolutely managed while on the highsens by men who owed allegiance only to their own union; and the stuation was: further aggravated, from the owner's standpoint, by the fact that the various unions aboardship were frequently quarrelling among themselves. The Seamon's Union controlled the wheelmen, watchmen, look-outs, and deck-hands, and was particularly jealous of it prerogatives. If a fireman was taken suddenly ill, no deckhand could be asked to shovel coal. The Firemen's Union controlled the firemen. oilers, and water-tanders, and would permit its members to do no more than was set down in the card. The engineers found the firemen a bad lot to deal with, owing to the protection thrown about them by the Firemen's Union. Trivial excuses were seized upon by the firemen to quit work. On the other hand the engineers, controlled, inturn, by the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, were extremely jealous of their rights in the after-end of the bont, and were inclined to resent any interference (100D Teachers, Comfortable Rooms, from the master of the vessel. In turn, Rearonable Fees, English and Typewriting made specialties. All the Commer- the masters were controlled by the Masters' and Pilots Association. On cial Branches taught. Send for catalogues. 597 the Great Lakes the mate is the pilot, and as two are carried on each steamer, it can be seen that this association controlled the mates. The master, therefore, really helpless aboard, because he is subject to the dictates of his subordinates; and KEATINGS he is, moreover, quite aware of the favour that owners had bestowed upon certain departments of the boat. The situation of the owner, however, is growing more complicated. A modern Lake steamer represents an investment of half-a-million dollars and it is not comfortable to feel that so FLEAS, BEETLES, BUGS, FLIES. expensive a piece of property is floating about without a personal representative aboard. Therefore the owner is discontanted and unhappy, and has resolved this year MERRYWEATHER'S to manage his affairs in his own way.

TIMELY SUGGESTION. -This is A the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter. is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take-both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. MACEDONIA IN THE SPRING.

London, Mar. 4 .- Withithe winterabout over, attention is again centred on Macedonis, where conditions are serious, and during the last three days numerous clashes thave been reported between Greek bande officered by former members of the Greek army and Ottoman troops, In fact, so serious is the outlook that Austria-Hungary and Russia have addressed a peremptory Note to the Government: at Athens, in which they state unless repressive measures are undertaken and the protection given to the brigands operating in Macedonia is withdrawn, ptern measures will be adopted to compel Greece to yield this point. The task of pacifying Macedonia, says the Note, is exclusively Austria's hence the Hellenic Government had better keep its hands off:

The Greek bands in Macedonia show that they are making common cause on both soldiery and pensantry. In several cases willages were surrounded and the inhabitanis compolled to pay tribute to the A Cause of Freedom.

This has resulted in increasing the fear of the inhabitants that when spring comes they will find themselves at the morcy of both the bandits and the Turkish troops.

A RECORD IN BIGAMY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. - Immense public | interest is being taken in the fate of Johann Hoch, now in Chicago Jail, who is charged with marrying 45 wives, and swindling thom all, and is further suspected of

This record polyganish when confronted and identified by four wives at Chicago only seemed to be thoroughly amused by the situation. The recriminations of the victims he mut with jeers, and seemed quite at his case. One of the women called him ! a miserable cur, who stole her fortune. No, he said, 'you gave it me to keep, and I kept it."

Forty camera fiends, on his arrival at the railway atation, levelled their apparatus at him, but the police declined to allow him to be either photographed or interviewed. Nevertheless-for nothing daunts the American news papers—they all appeared to-day with pictures of the prisoner surrounded by a battalion of wives. He has now confessed to ten weddings. He admits that the white powder found in his fountainpen was poison, but declares that he carried it for the purpose of committing

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1905. TSINGMING. not exerted themselves to ascertain. They know that the word describes a Chinese festival, which occurs in the spring, and that it is connected with the worship at, or of, the graves. The most manifest sign of the approach of the day to the average resident, is the disappearance of one or more-or the domestics; or the non-appearance of the ordinary milkman or even business shroff. The Chinese employee has come to think that this season-like bank holidays in England-now concedes him the right to relinquish work, to turn his back on his master, and his face towards his village home. For a consideration, he introduces as griffin, who is anxious to commence " learn-pidgin", and so whilst he i disporting himself in his ancestrahome, the griffin looks with admiration and awe on the possessions of the home into which his has, for the nonce, Joenin Tribens, appropriate some ut- which calmly recognises that what contractive tride, as a momento of his Noon-Meeting of The China-Bornes first introduction to the monsions of the wealthy Westerner. tombs of their ancestors. To-day the duties connected with Tsingming are threefold. These are social, civil, and religious. Wherever the ordinary celestial goes there is only one spot which he regards as home. The village nestled under banyans and hamboos, at the foot of some bare hill, and the tombs of his ancestors which cover the hillside, are the memories which he carries with him, whether he is serving behind the counter in the big city, or stoking the fires in the engine room of the big liner. At Tsingming, A Narrow Escape. each year if possible, he visits his home to renew the companionship of his family and his clan. Fire in Wellington Street.

A fire broke out at No. 127 Wellington Street, close to the Fire Station, last evening and did considerable damage. The outbreak occurred on the ground floor, which was at the time unoccupied, the tenant having gone out the previous day, and is believed to have originated amongst come sharings and similar material but from what cause is known. The men from head-quarters were almost immediately on the scene but the fire spread very rapidly and had reached the first floor by way of the stairs before they could check it. Three hydrants were quickly in workng order and after a sharp struggle the flunes were got finder control. The save from Hougkong or transhipped at that was a good one, the principal damage being | Por to the first floor where a photographer's shop was situated hall his furniture and fittings suffered to the extent of shout $1000. The place was not insured.

The Reward of Chivalry.

A rather curious assault caso occurred at West Point last evening, in connection with which Ng Kan, an electric motor man, was brought before Mr J. H. Kemp, at the Magistracy, this morning. It appears that while some rice was being unloaded in: the Po Hing Godown an old woman came round to gather some of what had been spilt for herself. The was sent away several times but returned again, when one of the coolies chased her with a broom and commerced to knock her about. He was handling her very roughly when the dofendant stopped his car and came to the woman's rescue. The coolie ran into the godown on his approach and when found some time later was seen to have his feet badly damaged, having jumped from the nesses declared that the defendant pushed him over the verandah, but this is denied and it seems more probable that the coolie became frightened and jumped of the versidah of his own accord. The case was remanded until Monday.

The bare mention of the word 'Athletic' n itself is sufficient to rouse the interest of the average Britisher. Small wonder, therefore, that the recreation ground at Happy Valley was prowded with spectators this afternoon when the annual Athletic Recreation Club were successfully put in motion. Fortunately the weather this year was just the reverse to that experienced in 1904 (when the rain descended in torrents) for the day, though somewhat dull, was cool and pleasant. The recreation ground was decked with flags, the grandand the wants of the speciators and com potitors were well looked af er by an

been read the Chairman asid :--Gentlemen. With your permission we will take the report and accounts which have been circulated for some time past as read. I have very little comment to make Sports under the auspices of the Victoria on them. The year 1914 was a very quiet year for us. Our total turnover was within 50 tons of the previous year, and our gross profit about $5,000 more. The ne result is almost the same, viz :- $121,137.17 with which it is proposed to place to Reserve Fund $10,000, and pay a dividend of 20 per cent, absorbing $100,000, leaving $11,137,67 to be carried forward to credit of this year's account. The hemp market at Manila experienced the usual fluctuations stand being especially attractive looking, during the year, but on the whole the price was slightly lower than before, and this year I am glad to say we have bought at slightly lower prices still. It is to be hoped that this downward tendency may continue, for the high cost of rope curtails the demand as it conduces to economy on the part of consumers who are natural not inclined to buy as much rape at 3) to 40 cents as they used to do when the price was only 15 to 20 cents per lb. A high rate of exchange which so many people pray for is also anything but a blessing to us for it makes our product dearer in coun-1. 1 P.M. - Long June. ROUND-THE-ISLAND RACE. On Sunday, should the weather conditions be favourable, the crawers belonging to members of the Royal Hongkong Tacht Club will engage in a race round the Island, commencing from Junk Ray. It will be remembered that the last time this race was sailed, "La Cigale" was the only yacht to finish on the day of the race, and as she had hauled down her racing flag, owing to having dragged her anchor at the mooring, she did not secure the prize: The other boats finished at all times, after a night outside. This time the race is round the island in the opposite direction, that is from Junk Bay, via Cape D'Aguilar, and in through the western entrance, finishing off at the Sugar Refinery's wharf, where a line will be made from one flagstaff to another. Unless a boat finishes before seven p.m. on Sunday the race will be declared off. ONE SUMMER'S DAY. A Capital Performance. If the A.D.C. continue to add laurels to their already bulky grown as consistently thoroughly deserve it. as they have been doing in recent times they will not only find difficulty in carrying them, but residents will be educated up to a standard of theatricals that will cause them to cavil at even first class performances by professionals, Whether in comedy, or farce, or drama, the A.D.C. seems to be able to hold its own. Perseverance is the hall mark stamped on the elecution, the dressing, and the scenery of every effort. Detail is studied as much as the principal outstanding factors in whatever type of play is hezarded, and though cometimes there are weaknesses atl the players honestly endeavour, as thespians say, 'to play up to one another.' It is this combination that is responsible for all the good work that the Company has done, and with the experience each performance adds they are bound to go on improving. Effects of past criticism were noticeable last night in the production of One Summer's Day, a To morrow the final Club race of the pretty pastoral play which was staged with me-design which was staged with infinite taste and with a completeness reflecting the greatest credit not only upon the actors and actresses but upon those workers who do not come within the pale of the limelight-the stage managers and those responsible for the dressing. There was studied unity amongst the players; actions were suited to words, and gestures were made where gestures were needed not, as is often the case with amateurs. where they are ill-suited. The result was a highly pleasing and meritoriously acted drama-for to call it comedy would, in bur opinion be to err. Bather is it a light drama with the fatal issue to some principal character omitted : or melodrams without murder. The pathetic, more than the comic, predominates, for chief interest is centred in the trials of that fine character Major Dick Rudyard-the portrayal of which by Mr C. Grace was as fine a rioce of acting as we have seen on the local stage. Every word was distinct; every action governed by natural impulse. Witness the characteristics of the smeker and the man who uses the pips to hide emotion; the genuineness of speech in times of sorrow, and the light gaiety assumed when call is made to surgiount what are apparent difficulties. Mr Grace was the good, sturdy, type of genuine manhood to the life, and in those moments when pathos rolled many a tear Arrangement. glistened in the eyes of auditors. That is the greatest compliment that can be paid an actor, and, if it is satisfaction, Mr Grace had the satisfaction of being the principal in causing the unruly tear to start in many an eye and the awkward lumpto rise in many a throat. It is unnecessary to say more. Upon Mrs Grace, total the was associated with her husband in some of the principal situations as Maysie (the girl who lored the Major though a musunderstanding about the boy he was protecting caused her to regard him with disdain for the nonce) high encomiums must be showered. The petulance of the girl and the nobility of the woman frankly acknowledging unjust suspicions require artistic interpretation to be realistic, but not once did Mrs Grace fail. Her whole demeandar on the stage was natural, and whofiv justified the warm tributes paid her by the nudience.

And next in point of acting comes, we think, Mr L. J. C. Anderson, the friend of A. E. Ram: J. W. White and A. Loureiro: Major Dick and the unsuccessful lover of A. B. Rouse and C. E. H. Beavis: Maysic. In the role of the light-hearted but carnest young man who deems his own love affairs to be paramount in importance to all else, he did some splendid acting, his declaration of love and the struggle between love and duty when it came to clearing Major Dick from the cruel auspicions entertained by Maysie, being striking phases in a uniformly good representation. One of the chief characters was in the hands of Mrs H. M. Webb. Sho represented Chiara, the wild Girsy girl mother of Major Dick's ward and considering the difficult part allotted her sho did remarkably well. In passionate utterances such as Chiara is responsible for, a high erder of elecution and lorg practice are needed to contribute to perfection, and remombering that amateu s have but ittle opportunity of locally acquiring experience in either it must be said Mrs Wohl excellently played as character that was one of the most difficult if not the most difficult-in the cast to perceay. Miss Hazoland also represented a gipsy and was happy in her part, though she had little opportunity to display her talents. Mr J. V. Davies as a wilful youth fresh from school who fails madly in love with Chiara, and defies his uncle and everybody else to take him from her, was responsible for some capable characterisation and seted with freedom and spirit, though his declaration of love might have been made with a little less cobustness to be realistie. Mr A. Chapman was Seth, the gipsy husband of was everyone else in fact- and his own

His interpretation of the wild character was meritoriously done, much vividness being lent to the role by the lurking nature Sunderland (1) drew with Woolwich of his staps, and the manner he had of creeping in amongst the trees. As the Urchin who preferred worms to women and fishing to working, Mr P. Tester was, as the Chinese would say, 'numbah one' and was always at home. His frowey make Middlesborough (6) drew with Notes up was good, and his jokes at Theodbre Bendysho's expense were highly amusing. Mr Mowbray & Northeote was in the role of Mr Bendyshe - who generally seemed to

The appearance of him after being ducked in the pond by Seth, the gipsy evoked shieks of laughter, and generally he carned rounds of applause. To Mr J. Hays fell the task of supporting the character of an aged but wise uncle, Robert Hoddesden, and he contributed much to the enjoyment of the evening. His sayings were pert and his actions to the life, whilst his get-up was just the thing. Miss Wakefield appeared as Mrs Theodore Bendyshe and she acquitted hercelf well, as did Miss Blair as Irene, Hoddesdan's niece, who by the way does not seem to have had anyone to fall in love be conveyed from Bombay by the R.M.S. with, which was rather a pity, since she Macedonia, due in London on the 4th June, looked exceedingly chic, and acted with
